Introduction

One of the saddest declines in the Bible is recorded in Judges 2:10b.

“... there arose a generation that did not know the Lord, nor the works the Lord had done for Israel.” (Judges 2:10b)

The generation referred to in this verse represented families and communities in the nation of Israel. Something had gone wrong as the people deviated from the ways of God, their Deliverer. The negative impact of their deviation was far-reaching. The raising of Judges in the land of Israel was to remedy that imbalance of knowledge on the part of the new generation of Israelites who knew not their God.

God kept raising judges and deliverers to deliver His people from the terrible consequences of departing from worshipping Him, the Almighty God, while they went after the New Age beliefs, cult practices and defecting to gods and goddesses that we in this generation must be careful not to go after.

We find ourselves in a generation that does not accord the proper weight to raising the next generation. There is little or no acknowledgement, remuneration or compensation for being a parent. In some cases, there is some subtle ostracising in the marketplace as profits are measurable and parenting is not really seen as profitable.

The enemy should not succeed in downplaying this highly vital role, which when looked at without cultural, religious, economic and political filters, is the most important assignment in every generation.

As a matter of fact, the One who created motherhood gave that role and function its full value and weight. Mothers in Bible times embraced and understood that the role and implication of birthing, nurturing, shaping and structuring lives from their early existence were not to be equated with money, fame, materialism, or even pecuniary gain.

The strongest flow of this message came within one week. I had been writing in piecemeal as my busy schedule permitted. Between 24th of February and 1st of March, I had such an understanding, flow and the release to write this book.

My own precious mother had passed into eternal rest on the 24th February 2014 and my dad had passed on earlier on the 1st March in 1980. I had led a prayer time with my family members who were present and had asked for the release of a mantle if there was any unfinished business by my parents, especially by Mom who had passed on more recently.

I give a brief background here about Mom's last days. Mom had been diagnosed with heart failure and there were other complications. However, my siblings and I were hopeful and we were preparing to fly her out to a Specialist Ghanaian Hospital for further treatment. I called my immediate family to pray for her a few months prior. Just then, I heard the Lord say to me, "Mom is saying as soon as my last daughter is married, I am done. She is saying she has finished."

As painful as that sounded, I shared it with my husband. Mom was only in her mid 60's when she passed. My sister had just done her wedding a few months before then.

Reports started coming back to me that during one of the follow-up treatments, she said that my brother and sister should not bother about treating her any further (I was in the United Kingdom and she was in Nigeria).

She then asked for her last daughter to be by her side. In fact, as she was passing into glory and praying, my youngest sister, Idongesit was by her side. I later connected these dots and to understand the implication and timing of her passing.

We also keyed into the generational blessing to be released upon us to fulfil our destinies as to why we were born. One of my sisters was sharing with me about fulfilling what God wants her to do for the first time too! I had sensed this weight on me as I felt there was a release of a legacy mantle. I felt that I had received a mantle myself to bring forth a dimension that would be a pilot to birth destinies. I see the birthing of many women and the men who would read or listen to Answering Your Destiny Call as A Mother: Birthing Deliverers, Dimensions and Destiny-Nations.

God is giving such a powerful awareness and revelation to women in this season. Dry wombs will open again. Those who were spiritually barren will have such fruitfulness that defies any logical reasoning, for He is doing a new thing on planet Earth. This new dimension is unravelling with greater intensity and is powerful in its expression.

God is raising women to facilitate deliverance on earth. They will rise up in this dark hour and engineer spiritual movements and innovations that will break the strongholds of wickedness that have held people captive for so long. It will come through what they are birthing physically, or spiritually.

As I was waiting on God few months back (in December of last year) I sensed strongly the Lord speak into my spirit: "You will cause women to birth destinies, dimensions and nations".

I just wrote it down. I had no idea a book would be birthed afterwards. This is not just a book; this carries grace for you to birth. It is connection with a new life. So, whether it is a physical or spiritual baby, a higher dimension of living, or whether it is a new business or an innovation, get ready to birth what God's got for you.

The Word pumps us up on this expectation. Whatever is born of God overcomes the world. Get ready!

As I write this book, our second grandchild is being born into the world by our first daughter, Edidiong. The baby came two weeks earlier before EDD on 4th March, 2019. As we receive our new arrival into the world, we rejoice at this sign. It is a resurrection sign.

Let this book also be your sign, a sign that God has given you permission to birth, rebirth and become fruitful. Now is your time. It is your fullness of time.

When the fullness of time has come, sing O barren. I pray for strength for you to bring forth. You will bring forth deliverance on the earth. You will bring forth Deliverers. You will bring forth Dreams and Dimensions. You will bring Destiny Nations in God. This is your birthing season. Get ready!

“Fluid became flesh and was birthed. It is first physical and then spiritual. We observe what is happening in the natural to gain understanding of spiritual principles. Even so, you can understand spiritual birthing by carefully observing the physical birthing. Birthing, therefore is very much a spiritual process”.

Chapter One

A Prophetic Word, A Pregnancy & Proof of Birth

“Fluid became flesh and was birthed. It is first physical and then spiritual. We observe what is happening in the natural to gain understanding of spiritual principles. Even so, you can understand spiritual birthing by carefully observing the physical birthing. Birthing, therefore is very much a spiritual process”.

I thought birth certificates were proof of place of birth until I encountered a brick wall in pursuing my right of citizenship almost 27 years ago. I am sure you do think so too.

Here is an incident that contradicts that. It was in 1999 that we invited some prophets for a meal at our home after a Prophetic Conference (School of the Prophets), in Uyo, Nigeria.

I had just finished serving them dinner and they were in chatting mode. At the time, we already had our three daughters - Edi, Uduot and Ese who was just about a year and some months old then.

One of the prophets, Dr Dennis Nkanga called me aside and as though out of the blues he asked,

“Were you looking for your birth certificates?” I tried to gather my thoughts together to find a connection with him to my United Kingdom birth certificates and I could find none. I was not thinking of if he found them or if he was giving a prophetic word since I was not “missing” them. He lived in Calabar, where we lived about seven years prior to moving to Eket for our first church planting experience under Revival Valley Ministries International. The fact is that the birth certificates were missing and I had not even realized they were, because I had no need for them then. As far as I was concerned, I did not expect to use them anymore, at least so I thought. Now, as I am recounting these incidents, you can tell they were misplaced.

But he said, your birth certificates have been found. Found? I was not even searching for them at that time. I had lost hope of using them. I will finalize that part of the story in a few minutes.

However, I was startled by his next question that followed: “Do you plan to get pregnant again?” We just had our third baby about a year before then, and we expected a boy then, but it turned out, it was a girl. Now, with three girls, I was not certain I would risk trying another pregnancy again anytime soon. I was not sure I wanted another baby girl.

So, that question threw me off guard and I am not sure what I mumbled.

Then he continued, “If you get pregnant again, you will have a boy”.

“Right”!

So, I thought, didn't the Lord know I needed a boy this third pregnancy? Well, she was obviously not one, though she loved climbing and playing pranks. In fact, at one time we were looking for her in the house. She was nowhere to be found. We stepped outside, worried she might have toddled out and there she was, on top of Guava trees in front of our home, laughing at us! She was about 2 or 3 years at the time.

At another time when my Mom was alive, the children were staying with her. Their grandma would count Maggi cubes as well as sugar cubes and would hide them away. One day, Grandma hid a pack of sugar cubes but forgot where she hid them. When she asked them “Have you children seen where I kept the Sugar?” they the children and their aunties were all rolling with laughter. Our third girl, (would have been 6 years old then) found where her grandma hid the tasty Maggi cubes, and she hid under the sitting room table, unwrapped them and savoured them one by one. “This is good” she must have been thinking, but thank God her tongue was not hurt.

The funny part is, she was seeing legs move around from under the table and everyone calling her but she kept mute and did not bother to move. Then all of a sudden, everyone in the house heard screams from under the table. Lo and behold, there she was, with bits of the spice, smarting her eyes and now she couldn't hide anymore!

Today, she is a graceful young lady (20th March 2019 made her 21 years old), with a heart of gold, loving the Lord and God is raising her to bless her generation.

Lost and Found!

Back to the story of the lost and found birth documents.

In summary, in the discovery of my birth certificates was the message from the Lord that I was to return to the United Kingdom for a specific assignment. I had no desire to travel or return and after being denied five years before, I had put that totally out of my mind. One the first task my husband and I undertook was to get the British High Commission, Lagos, within a year of our marriage. All starry-eyed, excited and ready to take on the world. We went to the British High Commission with all documents that were requested of us and much more, but for some strange reasons, then, they inexplicably turned it down.

What the Consular office and wrote on the envelop that contained our documents was: “Your birth certificate is no proof that you were born in United Kingdom!” I guess you might be wondering what exactly that means? I did too, or, we did.

It was so confusing at the time what the officer in charge was really implying when he endorsed that refusal with those contradictory words that were used to dismiss us.

We eventually felt it was not time and God must have used that to stop us from launching out prematurely into leaving the shores of Nigeria for the United Kingdom.

We left the British High Commission in Lagos that day confused. At least we were aware that there was no better proof of one's birth place than the birth certificate?

To really tell you how valid this was, I had both the long and short version of my birth certificates. Ten days signed and stamped by the Registrar of Births in Camberwell Borough, London. Those are my birth certificates that been missing for 7 years and I did not know. I had never needed them, so I did not look for them.

I had lost hope of ever travelling to the United Kingdom. The country of my birth was so distant at that point. I thought the documents were somewhere in our possession, but no, they were in another state, another city, in a dingy old cupboard in a house with our friends that stored our stuff up for us.

Our couple friends we shared a flat with at the time before we relocated to another town for our new pastoral assignment, had transported that cupboard to their next rented apartment 7 years later without knowing its contents. So, when that prophet mentioned it we were overwhelmed with joy, but we didn't really know it was a sign that God had given us to begin the process of relocating to the United Kingdom.

I was born in St Giles Hospital in Southwark, which was shut down in 1983 and moved to St Francis and Dulwich. I found this out much later. So, maybe the officers at the Nigeria British High Commission searched for the records in 1992 when I made our application and did not find the hospital operational and they made up that statement. That is a possibility.

Born A Citizen, Birthing A Dimension

After this, God gave me a rhema Word from Acts 22:2-28.

“The commander came to Paul and asked him, “Tell me the truth, are you a Roman citizen?” “Yes I am,” he replied. The commander said, “I had to purchase my citizenship with a great sum of money.” Paul replied, “I was born as a citizen!” - The Passion Translation

Being a Roman citizen was a coveted status and sought after in the then Roman Empire. Born in Tarsus, Cilicia in Rome, Paul had a measure of authority that the Centurion did not have by birth.

That Scripture birthed a dimension that created a chain reaction that enabled us, not just myself, but also other three siblings, their spouses and children relocating to the United Kingdom.

By December 2003, I had my British Passport in my hand. I stayed on that Word, “But I was born there”. It became the relocation reality when we took the inspired Word of God or Rhema (the spoken word given to us for a certain time and specific action. All our children were born before I travelled from Nigeria, but with that assignment done with, I had a different assignment that was to be birthed in the United Kingdom.

In December 2003, I was sitting in our home and on the television was news of Queen Elizabeth’s visit to Nigeria. It was later that I had learnt that she that the first and last time she visited Nigeria was in 1956.

As I watched the welcome processions, I felt the Lord was saying, "I sent the Queen to visit Nigeria to confirm to you that it is time to travel back to Britain and that I would receive my passport British passport shortly after that.” That strengthened me to trust God through other series of difficult circumstances to know that God had already pre-determined my arrival even though we had no money or opportunity to travel. I was nursing our 9-month-old twins and was not ready to travel. But this quickening was real in my spirit.

Now, this is really not about British citizenship as much as the birthing of a new dimension to facilitate the purposes of God in my life. During that time, I had a prophetic confirmation and dreams about my assignment in the United Kingdom that God was sending me for.

The Miracle of Fusion –The Word and Your Spirit

Biology informs us that our eggs had a fusion with the seed from our husbands before there was a zygote formation. The zygote then multiplied and the result of that multiplication was a foetus, then a baby. Fluid became flesh and was birthed.

It is first physical and then spiritual. We observe what is happening in the natural to gain understanding of a spiritual principles. Even so, you can understand spiritual birthing by carefully observing the physical birthing. Birthing, therefore is very much a spiritual process.

So for us to relate to the spiritual, the Word became flesh and lived among us and John exclaims that we gazed at His glory with wonder. It was the glory of the only begotten Son of God!

From the incident I gave at the start of this book, the Word of God is the raw material to build your life upon. If there must be a sustainable future and lasting success, the Word of God is it. When the Seed of God's Word fuses with our spirits in the place of meditation and prayer, then we begin to experience the results of that fusion. We will then see miracles, we will experience physical and emotional healing, we will see breakthroughs, deliverance, barrenness broken, our children get saved, our rebellious children returned to normal, our families delivered generationally, finances restored, angelic protection received, divine interventions personally and nationally. The world will see the manifestations of the Word of God in, and through us.

Measures, Stages and Phases

Dependent upon how you press in, you will see a 30, 60 or a 100-fold increase. As to how this happens, you might not be able to tell. They are inexplicable. Just like a farmer cannot explain and show you how his corn grew incrementally, that is why we call them miracles.

You and I will experience the outcomes of God's Word in measures, first, the blade, then the ear, then the stalk.

Sarah moved through the stages. She was on zero point when she laughed in unbelief during the angelic visitation. She said to herself, “Shall I have pleasure of having a baby when I am this old. You must be kidding me”

But she did move from 0 to 100 percent. Actually, she moved from zero to hero, as we find her name in Hebrews 11:11. She became a faith heroine just by acknowledging, became persuaded and kept repeating to herself that God will never lie. She judged Him faithful who had promised. God is faithful! There is no circumstance that can change His nature. If He changes, He ceases to be God. Just let that truth sink in.

Do not be discouraged just because you do not perceive the powerful release of God’s Word working fully in your situation at the moment.

If it is His Word, it must work, whether you see it manifest right away or not. Your understanding and perception should always be that God is naturally faithful! Keep speaking in faith. One, day you will see the light burst forth.
